What is the web site address?

You can view and access information for the City at:

www.ci.pleasanton.ca.us

What kind of information can I find on the City web site?

The City web site allows the general public to access:

- Community calendar
- Department / Division page links
 - ⇒ Application handouts and forms
 - ⇒ Public counter hours
 - ⇒ Special project information
- Webcasts of the City Council meetings
- Contact us via e-mail option
- The Pleasanton Municipal Code
- City records
- Zoning maps
- News releases

What does the Planning Division web page offer?

Planning Page link

The Planning Division can be accessed from the home page by selecting Government, then clicking on the City Department link. Along the left side of the screen is a list of all the city departments. By selecting Community Development Services, you will enter the Division page and will need to select the Planning Services link.

On the Planning Division page you can access information on large/special projects that are currently in process by the City, i.e. General Plan updates. You can also access affordable housing projects and programs, applications for development review, and view the zoning map.

By selecting the applications for development review link, you can view and print all project type handouts, as well as, access a digital application form that you can fill out and print.

The Pleasanton Municipal code can also be accessed via the Government link and selecting Search City Records link. The on-line municipal code format allows you to select the Title, Chapter, and Section of any regulation to view it. The majority of the Planning regulations can be found in Title 18, Zoning.

How do I access the Ordinances for a PUD?

The City web site allows the general public to access the ordinances via the Search City Records link:

<http://www.ci.pleasanton.ca.us/government/search/>

Using the number listed on the zoning map, you can navigate to the ordinance that governs a development.

Please note that these document do not reflect any modifications or interpretations that may have occurred for the allowed uses subsequent to the original approval. Please contact a Planner to obtain any updates.
